

It's Sunday again—time for another “little Easter” celebration. Want to get together for a meal? Try one of these ideas:

Plan a Family Picnic. Let everyone decide what foods to make and take with you. If the weather doesn't cooperate, spread a blanket on the floor at home and picnic indoors. Either way, take turns telling your favorite stories about life in your family.

Try a Progressive Dinner. Invite at least 3 other families to join in the fun. Plan a menu, and assign each family one of the following courses: appetizers, salad or vegetable, main dish, dessert. Then travel from house to house to enjoy each course and one another's company.
